

An effective module for monitoring and improving the quality of staff, teaching, and curricular material. The Survey module is especially popular with secondary schools and universities, making it possible to administer surveys to entire Frontier installations, as well as customise questions for different target groups.

With the Survey module

Evaluate - Create system wide surveys modified to suit the profiles of different target groups e.g. staff, teachers, students or parents.

Improve student learning - Monitor teaching methods and learner satisfaction by collecting frequent student feedback on courses and workshops.

Develop teaching staff - Collect information on teacher response to curriculum and policy changes. Improve efficiency and effectiveness by identifying department strengths and weaknesses.

This is how the Survey module works

Access rights - Assign 'Survey access' and 'Survey reporting right' to those responsible for rolling out and managing the survey.

Personal tool - Activate the survey module for all users participating. The survey tool will appear in the user's personal toolbar.

Survey - Create a survey for a group of users, adding customised questions for specific user sub-groups.

Reports - Create individual or accumulated reports for further analysis of survey results.
